The Sheik Em Hull

The Sheik is a 1919 novel by Edith Maude Hull, an English novelist of the early twentieth century. It was the first of a series of novels she wrote with desert settings that set off a major revival of the "desert romance" genre of romantic fiction. It was a huge best-seller and the most popular of her books, and it served as the basis for the film of the same name starring Rudolph Valentino in ...

Ah yes, the book that launched a million Harlequins. Imagine, there'd have been no The Playboy Sheikh's Virgin Stable-Girl if not for Edith Maude Hull's 1918 bodice ripper, which turned sheiks into literary catnip forever, for all time, and - I'm pretty confident - into infinity and beyond. This is the original "virgin ravished by sheik" romance, with all the required alpha male swagger and ...

Excellent book very good story. I read it aeons ago by e m hull and loved it then. Yes it can be seen as cold blooded in the relationship between the sheik and the woman he carried off and married eventually, but it was written in a different time line where history was different and people reacted differently to life and to this kind of sheik romance.

EM Hull—a woman, of course; no man would write such tripe—never seems to look at her book and say, “I am crazy. This sheik deserves to be horsewhipped, then hung, drawn and quartered; and the girl must be mentally ill to want to stay with him.”

A Review: 1921's The Sheik by E.M. Hull | I, Dynamo

The Sheik by E.M. Hull ... I'm giving THE SHEIK two stars instead of the one it probably deserved because the constant melodrama could sometimes lead to unintentional hilarity, rather like Louisa May Alcott's rather bodice-rippy and decidedly lesser-known book, A LONG FATAL LOVE CHASE.
